WE'LL HAVE FRENCH THEATER

WITH THE LATEST PLAYS FROM PARIS GIVEN IN ENGLISH.

James H. Hyde and Others Interested in the Society-Victor Mapes to Be Managing Director-American Actors to Be Employed and to Share in Profits.

An association has been formed by James H. Hyde, Oakleigh Thorne, William H. Chesebrough and other well known New Yorkers interested in the drama which next winter will run a theater in this city devoted to exploiting exclusively the works of the contemporary French dramatists. The plays will be given in English.

The scheme has been made possible by the subscriptions of members of a new society. The capital required is $125,000. and all but a few thousand dollars bas been subscribed. Victor Mapes is to be the managing director.

The Society of French Dramatic Authors has agreed to allow the plays of French writers to be used in this country by the society for a royalty of only 1 per cent. Only the plays of French writers will be produced, and the contracts have been drawn up by Frederic R. Coudert, who is also a stockholder.

Two of the most popular theatres in the city have been offered to the society. Klaw & Frianger have offered to acquire for use outside of New York all those plays that meet with sufficient a cosss here. The company to be engaged will include the best of American actors, who will be employed for the entire term of six months and will in addition to a salary receive a share in the profits.

"The French stage is producing a num-

"The French stage is producing a number of very fine plays in these days," one of the promoters of the new society said yesterday. "But for various reasons they never get before the American public. Most of the adaptations are made first in England and thus after a while get to us. I nder the new arrangement to be made with the French authors the American rights are to be vested wholly in the company producing them.

"Where the subject is suited to adaptation, the drama will be adapted to American life. This work will be done by the best of our American dramatists. No play will under any circumstances be kept on the stage for more than six weeks. French plays are not acted here now in a way that gives any idea of their real nature, and they are certain to prove very different kind of theatrical fare from what improper and ignorant handling has made them in the past few years." the past few years."

The first performances of the new company will be given next October.

LUNA PARK RENEWED.

"Coasting the Gorges" Is to Be a Startler -Illuminated Cascades.

When Luna Park, Coney Island, opens for the season Saturday next patrons of the big amusement park will find that practically every square foot of the thirtyeight acres has been transformed. A lot of the old shows have been cut out and new ones fully as spectacular have been aubstituted

One of these is a brand new scenio railway that is said to contain curves and grades such as were never attempted before. The new thriller is called "Coasting the Gorges." In a building measuring 200x800 feet there have been laid 4,000 feet of track, at the end of which the cars shoot under a huge water fall at top speed.

Two of last year's attractions, "Fire and Flames" and "A Trip to the Moon, "will be Flames" and "A Trip to the Moon," will be retained, although both will be produced on a more extensive scale than before. Illuminated cascades at the base of the tower at the foot of the lake will provide a beautiful night spectacle. Three big pumps will force 15,000 gallons of water a minute through the mouths of three big dolphins twenty-five feet above the surface of the lake and through the trunks of four of the lake, and through the trunks of four plaster elephants seated on their haunches at the corners of the tower will spout streams of water into the air. The cas-cades will pour over a series of glass steps, behind which colored electric lights will behind which colored electric lights will change the color of the water.

The circus rings have been rebuilt, Among the performers who will appear on Saturday is Monbar, who calls himself the "Human Torpedo" and says his act is "an example of magnificent daring, with death chuckling in gleeful anticipation at every tostant of the frightful flight."

MRS. CARTER'S INJURY SERIOUS. Physician Says She Will Be Incapacitated for at Least Four Weeks.

It was definitely decided yeste day that Mrs. Leslie Carter will be unable to act again this season. When David Belasco, her manager, announced her accident on Friday night he said he didn't think she would be able to play again this season, but he wasn't positive she would not until he received the following statement from her physician yesterday:

Mrs. Lesli e Carter has torn the external lateral ligament of the left ankle and broken the tip of the smaller bone of the leg at its lower extremity, which will incapacitate her for at least four weeks.

The box office was besieged yesterday by persons who h d bought tickets in advance. The house was nearly sold out for both performances yesterday and $3,000 was refunded for this one day alone. For the remainder of the engagement of two weeks the advance sale was about $3,000. Tris money will be refunded to ticket purchasers.

PACKER ALUMNAE LUNCHEON. Twenty-fourth Annual Spread Held at Delmonico's, With 250 Present.

The associate alumnae of Packer Institute gave their twenty-fourth annual luncheon at Delmonico's yesterday. About 250 graduates were present.

STRICKEN AT A CARD GAME. "Well, Friends, I Think I Have Played My

Last Card," Said F. W. Linde. ORANGE, N. J., May 6 .- "Well, friends I don't feel just right to-night and I think I have played my last card," exclaimed Frederick W. Linde to a number of his friends, who were playing pinocle with friends, who were playing pincole with him in the Coleman House, West Orange, last night. He had been in high spirit all the evening and this remark, taken as a joke by those in the circle, only served to heighten the jollity and Mr. Linde was goodnaturedly chaffed for a minute until it was seen that he was deadly pale. Dr. J. Minor Maghee was called from his residence opposite the hotel, but when he arrived Mr. Linde was dead. Death was caused by apoplexy.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

the elevated platform three men who were waiting for the train directed their steps toward that end of the station.

For a moment she hesitated, then, with an elaborate affectation of indifference, she passed beyond the machine and took a sent on one of the benches. Presently the train came along and everybody piled aboard save the plump woman and one man, who lingered at a discreet distance to see what would happen.

As the gates were shut the woman made a line for the scales and stepped off just in time to escape the prying eyes of a new arrival.

"Funny thing, that," observed the chop-per to the one who had waited. "She goes to one of those places where they take off flesh. She won't believe the scales at the place, and as soon as she comes out she wants to try these scales to make sure that it's doing her good. I heard her telling a friend about it one day.

"She is sensitive about her weight, and unless she can escape the rubbernecks she waits until a train has just pulled out and we have the place to ourselves."

"I see," said the stranger within our gates, "that you divide the town into three parts, the East Side, the West Side and downtown.

"Not a bit of it," retorted the volunteer schoolmaster. "We divide the town into three parts, all right, but it's the big new buildings, the little old buildings and the holes in the ground where more new build-ings are going to be."

Chafing dishes are giving place to the gas stove and the casserole in bachelor apartments. Many men still single have turned from the bachelor apartment house to the small flat, greatly to the comfort of themselves and their pocketbooks.

The tiny kitchens in the four room flats can be made very attractive with white paint and cheap cilcloth, and the French cooking utensil has already preved its usefulness. One uptown apartment boasts a complete equipment from the tiny one holding a single egg to be baked with cheese to the three quart casserole large enough to hold spaghetti for a poker party. The work is as tempting as with the shiny chafing dish, while a wider range of dishes

At the Grand Central station on Saturday afternoon a little newsboy in hurrying to beat another little boy on a sale stumbled and feli on the stone pavement, and his newspapers were scattered right and left. newspapers were scattered right and left.
Several men ran to his assistance and found that his knee was badly bruised.
He was crying bitterly. One man supported the boy while another nicely dressed man picked up the soiled papers and sold them to the crowd that had gathered. They went like hot cakes, and the happy newsboy held out his hand and received the silver pieces that were left there.

"It strikes me as funny," says a well known architect, "that no one has written up Mrs. Remington Vernam of Arverns. There is a woman who has accomplished something in man's field.

"Arverne is a pretty little suburb, and it owes its attractiveness largely to Mrs. Vernam. She has platted every street in it, has laid out all the parks and located and selected the trees, flowers and shrubbery. In addition, she has designed several of the hotels, and not a few of the private residences. I don't know where she acquired her knowledge of architecture, but I do know she has got it and knows how to apply it."

Fads in hosiery are many and various Custom made rights and lefts are staples. but only lately can these goods be had from Nowadays you can buy men's stock. Nowadays you can buy men's hosiery conforming to the shape of feet at the average Broadway or Fifth avenue shop. Another novelty is known to the trade as "crowfeet" half hose. This designation is applied partly because of the peculiar fashioning and partly because the sole is made of softer fabric then the foot and body. Hosiery with individual compartments for the toes is a recent innovation. Holeproof socks are new also. These are sold with a six months guarantee ticket accompanying each pair. ticket accompanying each pair.

The subject was tainted money. "Of course," said the pessimist, "the church accepted the money. It naturally would. Who ever heard of a corporation would. Who ever heard of a corporation refusing to make money? And, indeed, why should a corporation be different from a private individual? Who ever heard of a single person wilfully losing an opportunity of making a little haul?

"I have," said another member of the party. "Have you ever tried to buy cards, or dice, or such things at — 's? [Naming a big department store.] Well, you could not get them if you tried. "I more than get my money back, however, for last year I sold several hundred dollars' worth of cards and other presents to people who came in here to save time. The scales were at the rear of the store and they had to pass the entire stock."

The day before Good Friday a woman in which is a church. She told the baker she wanted two dozen hot cross buns for the next morning, and added:

"And remember, don't put any cross on them when you bake 'em. You know I'm not a Catholic." entered a bakery in an East Side street

Jones is employed by a large concern which has offices on the ground floor of a downtown building. His desk is by a window, on a side street, where many newsboys and messengers congregate. He was looking from the window the other day and saw messengers congregate. He was looking from the window the other day and saw saveral boys quarreling over a game of craps. Suddenly one of the older ones pulled something shiny from a pocket and pointed it at the other boys, who took to their heels. Jones shouted to the special officer detailed in the corridor of the building to go out and arrest the boy. The officer rushed out, secured a regular cop and both pounced on the unsuspecting boy, who had by that time returned the thing to his pocket. The boy, frightened almost out of his senses, protested that he hadn't any pistol, but Jones, who had followed the cops, put his hand in the boy's pocket and triumphantly pulled out a nickel plated bicycle wrench. It took half an hour to disperse the crowd that had gathered and a lot of talk from Jones to square himself with the police.

"Petronius arbiter elegantice," said a physician the other day, "was not the only physician the other day, was not the only one who knew how to ward off the ravages of old age by having his body knesded by slaves every morning before he started out on his daily round of gaieties. Hundreds of old men in New York to-day make daily visits to physicians who do nothing else but administer this sort of treatment with the aid of masseurs. They employ baths and mineral waters, too, but the principal treatment is this kneeding.

IN SOCIETY.

This week is apparently to be duller socially than any week of the Lenten period. Society these days is interested only in sporting events. Quite a number of in vitations to June weddings will be issued within the next fortnight, and these will be the forerunners of many festivities for expectant brides and bridegrooms.

Mrs. Charles T. Barney and her daughter, Miss Katherine Barney, who was a guest of Miss Jean Reid on her coach on Wednesday for the fourth annual parade of the Four-in-Hand Driving Club, sailed on Wednesday on the Lorraine of the French line for Havre. They will join Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Stevens Alexander for a Continental trip. Miss Barney has been a bridesmaid twice recently, once for her sister, Mrs. Alexander, and Easter week for Miss Ellis, now Mrs. Humphreys.

Lord Lovat is a titled eligible just now expected to visit in town. He will be the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. Phipps, who have leased his Scotch home, Beaufort where the Martin-Phipps bridal breakfast was given. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy and Sir William Mather have just arrived. Lord Falconer is stopping at the Holland House. He is a cousin of the Duke of Manchester and eldest son of the Earl of Kintore. Viscount and Viscountess Castle-Kintore. Viscount and Viscountess Castie-reagh, the former the elder son of the Mar-quis of Londonderry, at the Albemarie, are so much absorbed in anticipation of a Western hunting trip as to care little for

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson are in town and drive out every afternoon. Mrs. Wilson's daughters, Mrs. Ogden Goelet and Lady Herbert, are in Paris and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt will soon sail with her busband. Mr. and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson will remain on this side, as will Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson, Jr. who have a will Mr. and Mrs. at Newport. Hobert Goelet, who was much with his grandparents as a young lad, has taken a house at Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, Jr., are still the guests here of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps, at their home, 6 East Eighty-seventh street. All of the family will sail for England later in the month, and will stay in London in anticipation of the wedding of Miss Amy Phipps and the Hon. Frederick Guest. cousin of the Duke of Mariborough, to be oclebrated in June. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, who recently returned from the Continent to their home in London, will be very quiet during the season. Mr. Martin has lost two of his sisters during the past few weeks, Mrs. William B. Rochester, wife of Gen. Rochester of Washington, and Mrs. Julien T. Davies of this city.

Cards are out for the wedding next Wedneeday in Chicago of Miss Lucille Grant Dent, a niece of Gen. Frederick D. Grant, and Lieut. Bert of the Nineteenth Infantry, U. S. A.; to take place in the Holy Name Cathedral. It will be a very big affair and celebrated in military fashion. Lieut. Bert is stationed in Fort Harrison, Mon., and the bride's father, Col. Dent, is sta-tioned at Chicago for the summer.

The Tuxedo cottagers are again assembling at their homes at the park and the colony will be very gay from now on through June. Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Lorillard have returned to their place from Washington. James Henry Smith has only to-day and next Sunday to entertain friends at his cottage, as he sails on Tuesday, May 16, for England. Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth 16, for England. Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes will soon go to the Tuxedo cottage they have taken. As soon as Mr. and Mrs. George G. Haven, Mrs. Wickes's parents, took possession of their own reconstructed dwelling, 24 East Thirty-ninth street, work was begun on 266 Madison avenue, where they passed the winter, which is to be done over entirely before Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes take possession in the autumn.
